welcome to our home, and now yours too...

We're so happy you've found your way to our little pub here in historic Midhurst.

Pull up a chair, warm yourself by the roaring fire, and make yourself comfortable.

Whether you're popping in for a quick pint, settling down for a hearty meal, or staying long enough to share a few stories (and maybe a song or two), you're always welcome here.

The Swan is the kind of place where strangers become friends, dogs curl up happily by the hearth, and no one's ever in a rush to leave. Our food is generous, comforting, and made to be enjoyed slowly, and the drinks are best savoured in good company — the sort that makes an ordinary evening feel special.

You'll find laughter, familiar faces, and the easy warmth of a proper local pub. Sing along if the mood takes you, bring your four-legged friends, and settle in - this is a place to feel at home.

If there's anything you need, or if you fancy a recommendation, just ask. We're always nearby, ready to welcome you with a smile.

Cheers - and enjoy your time at The Swan.

rooms

why not stay a while at the swan...

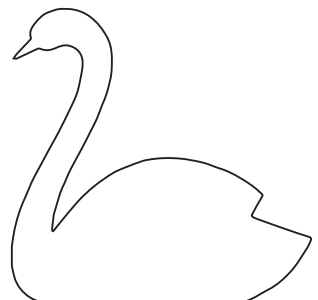

If one evening at The Swan doesn't feel like quite enough, we'd love you to stay the night. Tucked just upstairs from the gentle hum of the pub below, our cosy en suite rooms are a calm and comfortable retreat in the very heart of historic Midhurst.

Each room has been thoughtfully designed with comfort in mind - soft beds you'll sink into happily, warm colours, and those little touches that make a place feel cared for rather than hurried. After a day exploring the South Downs National Park, there's nothing better than closing the door, kicking off your boots, and settling into a peaceful night's sleep. Everything you need is right here, simple and reassuring, so you can truly switch off.

Wake to the quiet charm of a Sussex morning, with Midhurst's historic streets just outside and miles of rolling countryside waiting to be discovered. From woodland walks and chalk downland views to nearby stately homes and hidden footpaths, adventure is never far away - and neither is the promise of a warm welcome when you return.

Staying at The Swan means enjoying the best of both worlds: the comfort of a relaxed country pub and the ease of a well-kept room where you can rest and recharge. No rushing, no fuss - just good sleep, good food, and good company, all under one roof. Whether you're here for a walking weekend, a countryside escape, or simply because you didn't want the evening to end, our rooms are always ready for you.

stay over, take your time, and make yourself at home - we'll have a light on for you.
